Keynote Speech I
Presence and Social Obligation: An Essay on the Share
James FERGUSON (Stanford Univ.)

In a recent book, I analyzed the figure of the share as a principle of distribution of social protection payments or “cash transfers” in the global South in general, and in southern Africa in particular. Noting that today’s existing schemes of distribution are (like all “social” schemes before them) limited by principles of nation-state membership, I concluded with the suggestion that it may be possible to detect new logics of social obligation emerging that work not according to a logic of citizenship and national membership, but according to a principle that I called “presence.” This paper is an attempt to elaborate this conception, and to develop a more complete account of how such an understanding of presence might provide a basis both for an expanded sense of social obligation and for more inclusionary forms of politics.

Keynote Speech II
Others without History: organisms as agility-shifting actors in the trajectory of capital
Anna TSING (Univ. of California at Santa Cruz)

This lecture offers a tribute to Eric Wolf’s Europe and the People without History—with a twist. The “others without history” here are other living beings: plants, animals, and even water molds. The lecture shows how the historical becoming of other organisms forges pathways that mimic, block, and transform the trajectories of conventionally recognized history makers. I have chosen pests, weeds, and pathogens: they are entangled in human affairs, but they lack the docility of domestic creatures or the malleability we imagine of “natural resources,” waiting for human use. Because they force our hands, we can’t ignore their activity. Their in-your-face actions seem a good place to see cross-species historical trajectories in the making. Non-human organisms also make history, but not under the conditions of their own choosing.
Main Sessions

SESSION 1 [Roundtable]
Basic Income: Anthropological Perspectives on the New Politics of Distribution

With the publication of the Korean edition of James Ferguson’s book on the new politics of distribution, the issue of basic income which was a hot topic during the presidential election quickly received a spotlight of interest among Korean anthropologists. This roundtable organized by the Economic Anthropology Research Group aims to examine the basic income debate from anthropological perspectives and theoretical frameworks such as practice of sharing and commons. The roundtable seeks to provide an opportunity for anthropologists working on various regions and topics to link their researches with basic income and freely share thoughts and comments.

Presider: KIM Dong Ju (KAIST)
Panel: CHO Oakla (Sogang Univ.); OH Myung-Seok (Seoul National Univ.); HONG Seokjun (Mokpo National Univ.); PAIK Young-Gyung (Korea National Open Univ.); CHO Mun Young (Yonsei Univ.)

SESSION 2 [Organized]
Transnational Flows and Modes of Local Embedding

This panel is organized by the KSCA Research committee to discuss transnational flows and modes of local embedding of people and culture including Korean immigrants to the US, refugees in Germany, and community-based activities in urban China.

Presider: JANG Soo Hyun (Kwangwoon Univ.)
1. Pachappa Camp: The First Koreatown in America
Presenter: Edward T. CHANG (Univ. of California, Riverside)
2. Refugee, Religion, Global Diaspora, and Anthropology
Presenter: JUNG Jin-Heon (Free Univ. of Berlin)
3. Community-Based Activities in Urban China: An Observation on Their Hybridity
Presenter: KIM Jaesok (Seoul National Univ.)
Discussants: SONG Kichan (Ritsumeikan Univ.); LEE Minkyung (Daegu Univ.); PARK Jeehwan (Chonbuk National Univ.)

SESSION 3
Life History of Zainichi Koreans: Family, Community, and Nation

This panel examines historical experiences and the life world of ‘Joseonin’ who travelled between South Korea and Japan in the mid 20th century based on ethnographic researches of Zainichi Koreans in the Kansai region, Japan, and Jeju Island, South Korea conducted since 2009.
Presider: YOO Chul-In (Jeju National Univ.)
Presenter: IJICHI Noriko (Osaka City Univ.)

2. Inheriting the Rituals of Zainichi Korean Diaspora: A Case Study of Zainichi Koreans from 5 Villages, Jeju Island
Presenter: KOH Jeongja (Kobe Univ.)

Presenter: KOH Sungman (Ritsumeikan Univ.)
Discussants: KIM Chang Hoo (Jeju 4.3 Research Institute); KIM Thaesik (Jeju National Univ.); LEE Kyu Bae (Jeju International Univ.)

SESSION 4
Medical Science-technology as an Anthropological Field

The development of medical science-technology demands redefining of human conditions by providing new methods of intervention into body, the most fundamental premise of human beings. This panel raises anthropological questions on the changes of human conditions through researches on the beginning of life (infertility treatment), end-of-life care, and use of clinical technology. Through these questions, panelists seek to examine the issues of modernization, medical space, and social relations in the context of the connection between body and medical science-technology.

Presider: LEE Changho (Hanyang Univ.)
1. Technology and Relationship: Actions of Non-human Actors within the Infertility Experience
Presenter: YOON Eunkyung (Kyung Hee Univ.)

2. End-of-Life Care in Teaching Hospitals and Good Death
Presenter: KANG Jiyeon (Univ. of Virginia)

3. Crippled Modernity and Medical Pluralism in South Korea: Focusing on the Dispute around the Use of Clinical Technology
Presenter: LEE Hyeon Jung (Seoul National Univ.)
Discussants: KIM Taewoo (Kyung Hee Univ.)

SESSION 5 [Roundtable]
Techno-social Change and Basic Income

As part of the Basic Income series, this roundtable discusses techno-social changes and basic income such as AI, social solidarity, the 4th Industrial Revolution, new techniques of the social, and imagined communities.

Presider: CHO Mun Young (Yonsei Univ.)
SESSION 6
The Culture of Jeju's Haenyeo (Women Divers) after UNESCO's Inscription

In 2016, the Culture of Jeju's Haenyeo was inscribed into the UNESCO's Intangible Heritage List, the 19th inscription for South Korea. This panel seeks to examine the issues and challenges of Korean haenyeo culture after UNESCO's inscription.
